

My career, and my ability to get around easily and painlessly, came to an end when a car traveling in the opposite direction crossed over onto my side of the highway and caused a head on collision.

After being laid up in hospital for 7 -8 weeks and after several surgeries, I was glad to be alive. Because I was working at the time of the accident, the WCB controlled my claim. During my recovery I contacted injury lawyers Hanson Associates, in Calgary and met with Harris Hanson who immediately took on my case and help me through some very difficult times.

The insurance company for the defendant hired experts to support their arguments that they should not have to pay, on the basis that the other driver had suffered a heart attack and was not in control of her vehicle, such that there was no negligence on her part. My lawyers at Hanson Associates obtained expert assessments to argue that they could not prove that a heart attack caused the collision. The defence continued to withhold full compensation until they settled, the night before the trial was scheduled to begin.

My injury lawyers also gave me excellent advice on how to deal with the settlement in a serious injury case where the value of future WCB entitlements was so large.

I am very grateful to have had these Calgary injury lawyers to help me as they did and to have Harris Hanson as a friend.
