

When our son died suddenly, we were devastated. We were so emotionally drained; we had no energy to think about what we should do. When I finally gathered the strength to see Hanson Associates, it was a great relief. They knew everything that had to be done and how to do it. It was no longer our worry. =